VERTIGO DANCE COMPANY [ISRAEL]

Wednesday, October 19, 2011 / 8pm
Mandeville Auditorium, UC San Diego

With a studio in Jerusalem and another home base in the form of an eco-art village on a kibbutz, Vertigo Dance Company showcases the exceptional artistry and socially conscious vision of its artistic directors and partners in life, Noa Wertheim and Adi Sha'al. The couple's striking first duet, Vertigo, after which the company is named, drew not only from Sha'al's own experience in the air force but also considered the feeling of dizziness within the context of personal relationships. Their San Diego debut performance of their latest work, Mana, will take you on a fascinating journey through light and dark, interior and exterior, quiet restraint and extreme physicality.
